Roadmap to a Self-Aware School

1) Establish a school project team to review and develop the school's emotional awareness curriculum and objectives.

2) Provide ongoing professional development about emotional awareness training for counselors, teachers, and parents.

3) Identify the basic emotional awareness skills that will be integrated into your school's curriculum.

4) Support teachers in integrating emotional awareness into their curriculums on an ongoing basis:

- Use a classroom management approach that integrates basic emotional skills.
- Differentiate the classroom to support the role that emotion plays in the learning of different students.
- Make emotional learning objectives integral to the objectives of an existing lesson or module.

5) Develop a strategic perspective on the school's social and emotional learning system including: 1) Management; 2) Discipline; 3) Counseling; 4) Parent and Community Involvement; and 5) Research and Evaluation.
